Corporate Training, Executive Education & Consulting

Oxford School of Business & Management partners with organisations on leadership capability, workforce development and enterprise transformation.

OUR PRACTICES

Executive Learning

Structured executive programmes with modules, assessments and earned digital credentials, delivered through the learning platform and live cohort sessions.

Consulting

Advisory engagements on leadership capability, operating model, governance and transformation, led by practitioners rather than generalist consultants.

Corporate Training

Private cohorts and custom curricula designed for a single organisation, with enterprise enrolment, seat management and outcome reporting.

Research

Applied research and executive briefings on capital, governance, AI adoption and organisational performance, published through the Knowledge Centre.

Professional Development

Career-stage learning paths, free courses and short-form professional development for individuals building toward senior responsibility.

Leadership

Leadership development for executive teams and successors, combining coaching, cohort challenge and applied capstones inside the organisation.

ENGAGEMENT MODEL

- Capability diagnostics: baseline the leadership capability you have before designing what you need.
- Private cohorts: closed programmes delivered to your teams, in your context, on your schedule.
- Enterprise enrolment: central enrolment, invoicing and seat management for distributed teams.
- Outcome reporting: progress and impact reporting mapped to the targets agreed at kick-off.
